CONSECRATION OF BISHOP LLOYD.

BISHOP CO-ADJUTOR ARTHUR SELDEN LLOYD.

The impressive service incident to the consecration of Rev. Dr. Arthur Selden Lloyd as bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal diocese of Virginia was held at Christ Church today and was the occasion of the assembling in this city of the largest number of bishops and clergymen that has gathered in Alexandria since the late Francis M. Whitte was consecrated assistant bishop in St. Paul's Church in 1867.

Clergymen and laymen from all over the state were present and many of the other dioceses were represented by their bishops as clergy. The assembly was a noble one, composed of men of high ability and piety, who have been of service to the church in many of its important actions at forth rich ascription to the place in the venerable church, which Dr. Lloyd as it had been a church of himself and several generations. The service of the church with the city of Alexandria and the names of its prominent families for years past, together with its connection with the history of the country at large in the names of Washington and Lee, lent a singular impressiveness to the services of the occasion, unique and solemn as they were in their ecclesiastical relations.

The services began at 7 o'clock this morning with the celebration of holy communion, which service was largely attended, among the congregation being many of the visiting clergy and laity. This service was conducted by Rev. J. J. Graves, of Richmond, assisted by Rev. S. S. Ware, of Port Royal.

This was followed at 9 o'clock by morning prayer, which was also largely attended and was conducted by Bishop Gibson, of Virginia; Bishop Reese, of Georgia; and Reverend W. H. Burkhardt, of Leesburg; Harry Lee, of Charlottesville; and W. J. Morton, of Alexandria.

The consecration service proper began at 11 o'clock by which time the church was filled to its capacity. The bishops and clergy had assembled in the Parish Hall and robed in their canonicals, the main body of which had been reserved for them. After entering the procession divided; those on the right proceeded up the south aisle and those on the left up the north aisle, the officiating bishops taking their place in the chancel and the appointed clergy and O. Arthur Herbert, of the standing committee, who were to read the required testimonials, taking their seats in the front pews of the middle aisle, while the other clergy occupied the other pews of that aisle.

The services began with the personal hymn, No. 311, "Ancient of Days, Who Sitteth Throned in Glory," rendered by the choir, the congregation joining. Then followed the anti-communion service which was read to the end of the collect by Bishop Tuttle.

Then followed the Epistle by Bishop Randolph and the Gospel by Bishop Gibson. The Nicene Creed was read by Bishop Tuttle, followed by Hymn No. 329, "Thy Kingdom Come, O God."

The sermon was preached by the venerable Bishop of Albany, Rt. Rev. William Crosswell Doane, who took for his text St. John 9:7, "Go wash in the pool of Siloam, which is by interpretation Sent."

The appearance of the venerable bishop was most impressive. Owing to physical weakness he was unable to ascend the pulpit so a reading stand was placed for him in the chancel. This very circumstance made his words fall with power and affectionate earnestness upon those who were able to hear him, for as his voice was rather low it was impossible for it to fill the large building.

At the conclusion of the sermon the candidate, Rev. Arthur Selden Lloyd, D. D., was presented by Bishop George William Peterkin, of West Virginia, and Bishop Co-adjutor Beverly Dandridge Tucker, of Southern Virginia.

The testimonials of the candidate were then read as follows: The certificate of election by Rev. E. L. Gwynne, secretary of the diocese of Virginia; the testimonial from the diocese by Ool. Arthur Herbert, of the standing committee; the certificate of ordination by Rev. Angus Crawford, D. D., dean of the Theological Seminary near this city; the consent of the standing committee by Rev. Mercer P. Logan, D. D., a classmate of Bishop Lloyd and rector of St. Mark's Church, of Nashville, Tenn.; and the consent of the bishops by Bishop Frederick F. Reese, of Georgia. The promise of conformity was then made by the candidate.

The congregation was then bidden to prayer when the litany was read by Bishop Co-adjutor Wm. Loyal Graves, of West Virginia, followed by the prayer for the candidate by Bishop Tuttle, who also examined the candidate.

After this followed the vesting of the candidate in the vest of the Episcopal habit by the attending presbytery who were his brother, Rev. John J. Lloyd, D. D., archdeacon of Southern Virginia, and Rev. W. M. Clark, a class-mate and intimate friend, rector of St. James Church, Richmond.

Vest Creator Spiritus was then sung over him, which was followed by the laying on of hands by the consecrator, Right Rev. Daniel Sylvester Tuttle, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church of the United States. The co-consecrator, who joined in the solemn act, were Rev. Robert A. Gibson, D. D., bishop of Virginia, and Right Rev. Alfred Magill Randolph, bishop of Southern Virginia, all repeating the sentence of consecration together.

This was followed by the delivery of the Bible to the newly-ordained bishop by Bishop Tuttle.

Bishop Lloyd was then received within the chancel rail and the remainder of the holy communion service followed as usual.

The offertory anthem, "Send Out Thy Light" by Gounod, was then effectively rendered by the choir, and when the alms and oblations were presented the doxology, "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow," was sung.

Then the presiding bishop proceeded to the communion service, and with the newly consecrated bishop, the rest of the bishops and those officially present at the consecration, together with the family of the bishop-elect, received the holy communion.

The communion hymn at this service was No. 228, "And Now, O Father, Mindful of the Love." The post communion service in which occurred the special prayer for the newly consecrated bishop, was read by Bishop Tuttle.

The benediction was then pronounced by Bishop Tuttle when the procession of bishops and clergy was formed and marched from the church during the singing of the recessional hymn 491, "The Church's One Foundation," the congregation remaining in their seats till the close of the hymn. This brought the very interesting and impressive services to a close.

The deputy registrar was Rev. Wm. J. Morton, rector of the church, whose duty it was to see that all the official papers were in due form and after the papers were returned to their respective custodians, Rev. Mr. Morton was also master of ceremonies and accordingly took charge of the details incident to the service.

Dr. Lloyd was elected to the position of bishop coadjutor at a meeting of the Episcopal Council in Leesburg, May 25, and a few days afterward accepted the place. He has for a number of years been secretary of the Episcopal board of missions, with headquarters in New York. Previous to this he had been rector of St. Luke's Church, New York.

The only other bishops present were Bishop Harding, of Washington, and the Rt. Rev. Frederick W. Courtney, formerly bishop of Nova Scotia.

Among the prominent clergy present were Rev. R. H. McKim, Rev. Arthur Johns, Rev. Thomas Packard and Rev. Arthur Knowlton, all of whom are well known in Alexandria.

The committee of arrangements were Col. Wm. A. Smoot, chairman; Mr. H. F. Robertson, Mr. Gardner L. Bothe, Mr. C. Harry Yohe and Mr. Edward S. Leadbeater, vestrymen of Christ Church.

During the service at the request of Bishop Lloyd the students of the Theological Seminary occupied appointed seats in the gallery. The pews in the side aisles were occupied by members of the congregations of the three Episcopal churches of this city. The pews on each side of the chancel were occupied by the family and immediate friends of Bishop Lloyd.

The choir which effectively rendered the music for the occasion was composed of Mrs. M. W. O'Brien, director and solo; Mrs. E. F. Downham, soprano; Kenneth Ogden, tenor; G. H. Evans, bass; Mrs. Chas. Lennon, organist.

The offerings of the congregation at the service will be devoted to the building fund of Meade Memorial Chapel, the church for colored people in Alexandria.

LUNCHEON.

The ladies of Christ Church this evening very handsomely entertained the bishops and other visiting clergy who were in this city to attend the consecration of Bishop Co-adjutor Arthur S. Lloyd. The luncheon was served at Old Fellows' Hall immediately after the consecration service and was very largely attended. The tables were tastefully decorated with flowers, autumn leaves, cut glass and silver and each course was more temptingly served than that which went before, the whole affair reflecting great credit upon the ladies who had the luncheon in charge. The rector and the vestrymen of the church acted as hosts.

The committee of arrangements consisted of Miss Sallie Stuart, Mrs. Albert Bryan and Mrs. W. J. Bothe. The following were the assistants: Mrs. Chas. B. Marshall, Mrs. C. O. Sipple, Mrs. Gilbert Cox, Mrs. W. A. Smoot, Mrs. Edward Leadbeater, Mrs. Dabney Herndon, Mrs. W. J. Morton, Mrs. G. L. Bothe, Mrs. George French, Mrs. George Uhler, Mrs. G. W. Ramsay, Mrs. T. W. R. Blanton, Mrs. M. E. Bothe, Mrs. Richard Gibson, Mrs. George P. Anderson, Mrs. S. L. Munroe, Mrs. W. H. F. Lee, Misses Sally Green, May Green, Bessie Janney, Kate Stuart, Virginia Burke and Maggie Ashby.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Opera House was crowded last night to witness the presentation of the "Night Riders of Kentucky" by the Guy Johnson Stock Company. From the rise to the fall of the curtain every scene was punctuated with tremendous applause, fully demonstrating the fact that the audience was enjoying it. For the price of admission there is no show the equal of it today. Mr. Harry Spangler, the leading man, and Mrs. Guy Johnson as the leading lady in this thrilling western drama, proved to the audience that they were stars of the first order. Guy Johnson, as "Jake," was as usual, up-to-date, and Mallin and Mallin are all more than is claimed for them. James Flashmont, the "Kentucky colonel," was well received. As about 300 people were turned away last night the same show will be repeated tonight.

At the Surprise a large crowd gathered to witness the greatest of all vaudeville acts, and they were not disappointed for every feature was of a top-notch order. Another good show tonight, and entire change of pictures. The Surprise management promises an up-to-date show every night and they are keeping their crowd, for every feature of vaudeville furnished in first-class.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

Mr. Harry Bosch, who formerly lived in this city, where he was employed in a clothing store, went to Colonial Beach this summer and opened a novelty stand. He became friendly with a young man named Kelly, from Oriskany, Md., and about three weeks ago, it is said, they quarreled over a remark made by Kelly about a young lady to whom Bosch was paying attention. The quarrel came to blows and Kelly had Bosch down, when, it is said, the latter stabbed him with a knife. Kelly was given every attention by the local physicians but died on Monday. The reports that reach this city are to the effect that Bosch is held at Colonial Beach on the charge of manslaughter. His family resides on south Patrick street.

SUGGESTED COCAINE FIEND.

Last night on Pitt street, near King, a colored man was seen by a business man in the act of injecting into his arm a fluid by means of an instrument generally used in inserting cocaine. The act of the man alarmed those near by and an officer was sent for. When he took the man in custody the prisoner begged pitiously not to be harmed. When examined at police headquarters he was found to be covered with sores and in a bad condition, but denied that he was using cocaine. Later he was allowed to depart.

AUTOMOBILE DAMAGED.

The picture exhibited in one of the latest magazines of an old horse galloping on an automobile and thinking to himself, "Well, they'll have to call on us yet," was shown here today when an automobile in which was seated Dr. S. B. Moore was caught in the electric railway tracks at the corner of Prince and Royal streets and rendered unfit for service. It was later taken to the repair shop by two horses and attracted considerable attention.

BROKE HIS LEG.

John Terry, a brakeman in the Potomac railroad yards, north of this city, fell from a moving car last night and broke his left leg. He was brought to this city and placed in the Alexandria Hospital where he was attended by Dr. Smith.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

An infant son of Mr. J. O. Lynch died at his parents' residence on north Patrick street yesterday.

The plan for the organization of a new military company in this city seems to have died abroad.

The initiatory degree was conferred upon one candidate at the meeting last night of Scepta Lodge of Odd Fellows.

The regular business meeting of the Allison W. C. T. U. will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Children's Home on Duke street.

The weather was cold again last night. Considerable ice formed, and frost was the heaviest of the season. The mercury in the thermometer had fallen to 32°, but by noon it had risen to 55°.

George Boat, of this city, who was arrested by Constable Payne for gunning in Fairfax county last Sunday, was brought before Justice Wright this morning and fined $5 and $4 costs.
